

Guidance Programming Goals:

- Support students' academic, personal, and social development.
- Conduct small group counseling on topics of demonstrated need.
- Provide classroom guidance on a variety of topics to develop young people of character.
- Work in coordination with administration, faculty, and the school community to improve student support systems.
- Communicate with parents, faculty, and administration when needs arise.
- To assist all students in realizing their full potential in this world as a child of God

Guidance Programming Delivery Methods:

- Direct services include: direct counseling via classroom guidance lessons, small group on specified topics, student to student mediation, and individual counseling. Services are both preventive and responsive, as needed.
- Indirect services include: consultation with parents, teachers, administration, and school community as needed.
